Slashing through the waters of Lake Pontchartrain, Louisiana, is the PT-6, first unit of the navy's proposed fleet of mosquito boats for off-shore defense. The boat easily did forty-six miles an hour. Experts say the craft is superior to any of its type in the world. Torpedo tubes will be standard part of equipment.

Fined; Agrees To Get Plates

The long arm of the law reached out and stopped William Duffy of East Liverpool when he attempted to go through Salem today, driving an automobile with 1939 plates, which became obsolete at midnight.

Police also charged Duffy with "crashing" a traffic light and driving a car with insufficient lights. They said his car had only one good headlight and no tail-light.

Taken before Mayor Norman Phillips this morning, the East Liverpool man was fined $10 and costs for driving with improper license plates.

The mayor suspended action on the other offenses on condition Duffy get new "tags" for his automobile which police made him leave at the rear of the police station.

Dallas Cobb, 22, of E. D. 4, Alliance, was arrested by police on a charge of driving while intoxicated at 1:15 a. m. Sunday on W. State st. Police said they stopped him after he continually stalled his motor and almost hit two parked cars.

Arraigned later before Mayor Phillips, Cobb pleaded guilty and was fined $100 and costs.

Francis L. Schaffer, of Lorain, charged by police with reckless driving, was fined $10 and costs in the mayor's court yesterday.

Frank Simon Band
To Play In Lisbon

LISBON, April 1.—Columbiana county lovers of band music welcome the appearance of Dr. Frank Simon and his famous band in the David Anderson High school auditorium here Sunday afternoon, April 21, under the sponsorship of the Lisbon Junior Chamber of Commerce.

The Simon band, making its first personal tour, is the first professional symphonic band to be heard on tour since the tours of the Sousa band. This is perhaps noteworthy because of the close relationship between John Philip Sousa and Frank Simon. Simon was for many years the cornet soloist and assistant conductor of the Sousa band. In the Simon band today are 10 former members of the late March King's organization.

During the appearance here, Dr. Simon will present his complete personnel of 50 musicians, and he will feature outstanding soloists.

Salem Lad Is Held For Youngstown Police; Accused Of Snatching Woman's Purse

Robert Shannon, 19, of 438 Franklin ave., suffering from a stab wound in his left side, was held in Salem City hospital today for Youngstown police, following a purse-snatching episode in Youngstown Saturday night.

Shannon, police charge, snatched the pocketbook of Mrs. Abbie Taylor of Youngstown in that city at 8:15 p. m. Saturday but was caught by two men who gave chase when Mrs. Taylor screamed.

Youngstown police told Salem authorities that Shannon started to fight with the men, who took him inside of a store to call police. They warned him to quit fighting, it is reported. Shannon is alleged to have swung again and one of the men stabbed him with a pocket-knife.

The Salem youth managed to get away before the pair could give chase. Police believe Shannon had a accomplice.

Shannon, who later confessed, was taken to a doctor's office by a friend. The physician ordered Shannon removed to City hospital where his condition today is described as fair.

Nothing Illegal
In Black Powder,
Strain Declares

COLUMBUS, April 1.—George A. Strain, state director of industrial relations, said today that there was nothing "illegal" in the use of black powder for blasting operations in the Willow Grove mine where 72 men were killed in an explosion March 16.

His statement followed a report by the U. S. Bureau of Mines that a dangerous type of explosive and "non-permissible" machinery were used in the Hanna Coal company's bituminous workings near St. Clairsville.

"It is my opinion that black powder is not as safe as 'permissible' powder," Strain said, "but the word permissible is just a name and does not mean that black powder is illegal."

He declined to comment on the type of machinery used, in the mine, adding, "I don't want to influence an opinion before the investigation is complete."

A powder magazine was found demolished in the blast area by mine rescue crews. Other powder boxes were intact.

"I think we have made progress," he said of the investigation which was opened by a 12-man board in St. Clairsville last week and will be resumed here tomorrow. "We hope to determine the cause."

Volunteer seed came up and promised a fair crop last year, but a creek overflowed and another harvest was postponed.

The field is now green and Fuhs is wondering what 1940 has in store for him.

Prosecutor Says Liverpool Should Do Own Investigating

EAST LIVERPOOL, April 1.—Municipal officials today studied an opinion by Prosecutor Karl Stouffer which said that local officials have jurisdiction in gambling cases and can exercise it.

"Any investigation of gambling" by the county officer continued, "to come before the grand jury will have to be brought by local officials by submitting evidence or binding over suspects."

The East Liverpool Ministerial association has requested Liverpool police to probe alleged widespread gambling in the "Pottery City" and municipal heads were believed relying on the county prosecutor's office to make the "first move."

Today the prosecutor, more or less, tossed the matter back into the hands of the Liverpool officials.

HULL REFUSES
RECOGNITION

New Strain Placed On Relations, Says Jap Spokesmen

(By Associated Press)

Refusal of the United States to recognize the three-day-old "Central Government of China," established at Nanking with Japanese support, has placed a new strain on relations between Washington and Tokyo, in the opinion of the Japanese foreign office.

On the other side of the earth, the war between Germany and the British-French Allies was still being fought today for most part around council tables, with the blockade as the greatest allied weapon.

Hear Reynaud's Report

The new French cabinet heard Premier Paul Reynaud's report on the supreme war council session at London last Thursday, while British envoys hastened home from southeastern Europe for consultations. Prime Minister Chamberlain was preparing his own war council report for the British parliament tomorrow.

London diplomatic circles predicted crucial developments in the Allies' economic war against Germany during the coming week.

A French communique said Reynaud also told his cabinet of measures taken and under study for "repression of the Communist and Hitlerian intrigue in the interior" of France. This point was not explained.

Germany claimed victory over the French air force in Sunday engagements over the western front, reporting seven French planes shot down and no German losses.

"Abrupt" Says Jap

The Japanese foreign office spokesman described as "abrupt" the statement in which Secretary of State Cordell Hull on Saturday announced the attitude of the United States government on the Wang Ching-wei regime. The spokesman said it would hamper attempts "to ameliorate relations" with Washington.

Russia's parliament, the Supreme Soviet, was asked to approve a record defense budget of 57,000,000,000 rubles—an increase of 16,115,000,000 rubles over the 1939 figure. The legislators incorporated as the 12th republic in the Soviet Union the territory recently won from Finland.

Pilot, 4 Children
Die In Plane Crash

SEATTLE, April 1.—A Sunday afternoon airplane pleasure trip ended in death for four Seattle children and a woman pilot.

The dead: Cora Sterling, 25, a flier for eight years and the first woman in Washington to receive a transport license; Janet, 8, and Charles, 4, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Taylor; and James, 10, and Allen, 14, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Taylor and cousins of the two girls.

The plane, a single-engine, four passenger cabin ship, crashed at 180 miles an hour into a sawdust pile a half mile from Boeing field.

Spectators differed as to whether it caught fire in mid-air but agreed that it struck with the motor running. The gasoline tank exploded. In a few seconds the entire plane was enveloped in flames.

The crash occurred in full view of hundreds of motorists and airport visitors. Civil aeronautics authority investigators declined comment on possible cause of the accident.

WHO STARTED THE WAR?

The imagination of German leaders traditionally is at its best in the field of military exploits, at its worst in public relations and diplomacy.

The Nazi regime wants the United States to believe two things: That war guilt rests on the allies and that this government is morally, if not actually, one of the guilty parties.

To this end it has released and is prepared to release documents implicating Great Britain, France and the United States in the making of the war. It is an interesting experiment in shaping public opinion.

It does not promise, however, to be a successful one, outside of Germany. German leadership can imagine world power and reach for it, but it cannot imagine the breadth and depth of skepticism and criticism outside Germany. The same mistake committed in the World war is being repeated: Failure to understand why Germany's neighbors do not think as Germans are taught to think.

As to war guilt there is the insuperable fact that the allies were not prepared to fight the war; that their preparation was not begun till after the military intentions of the Hitler regime became too plain to be disregarded; and that even now, seven months after the opening of hostilities the allied objective is to develop a defense capable of withstanding Germany's previously developed power of attack. War became inevitable when Germany made plain its intention of not stopping short of war—when it invaded Poland. To say that the allies started it is to say that they were the first to resort to violence, which is absurd. It is recalled in this connection that Germany claimed the allies started the last war and that it invaded Belgium only to keep France from attacking Germany first.

As to the allegations against the United States, particularly against conversations by William Bullitt, ambassador to Paris, with various European statesmen, the Nazis have missed a vital point. No matter what Mr. Bullitt or anyone else said, the United States cannot be committed to any decision, except by act of congress.

There is no voice of thunder here that makes all men quake. A few days ago when a freshman diplomat in Canada hinted that the United States favored the allies against Germany even those who agreed with him helped to box his ears. The Germans must have failed to understand why this happened. They cannot understand that no one man speaking for the United States, up to and including the head man, shouldn't be taken literally.

Perhaps Germany's leadership will be able to pin war built on the allies and throw mud on the United States. The prospect is not too, too terrifying. The "pure Aryan" is too literal to imagine the other side of the case.

MOVING IN ON ROUMANIA

The technique of infiltration, as demonstrated by Germany, is simple and direct. Roumania is in line for the standard treatment.

Groundwork has been laid; the Roumanian Iron Guardists, a marching, swastika-bedecked organization, is organized and ready to go.

It will demand increasing privileges from the government, which can do one of two things, both with the same result.

It can resist and give Germany an excuse to send in troops. "to restore order." Or it can comply and the troops will come anyway.

Austria, Czechoslovakia and Poland have been swallowed up in this way, only Poland choosing to try resistance.

When the crisis comes in Roumania, a turning point in the new war will be reached. If the allies lose the Balkans as they lost Finland, the balance of power clearly will be in Germany's favor. The swing in that direction began with absorption of Austria, which made collapse of Czechoslovakia inevitable. Absorption of Czechoslovakia determined the outcome of infiltration in Poland and the outcome of Russia's invasion of Finland. The latter's defeat, relieving Russia and confirming the power of the Communazi alliance, put Roumania on the spot. The allies so far have discovered no defense for infiltration.

CASE FOR THE PUTTER-OFFERS

Blessed is the automobile owner who gets his license tags early.

But where does the idea come from that the putter-offer is nothing but a suborn, shiftless ne'er do well?

He paid for a year's service out of the old tags and he got it, right up to the last minute. The wear and tear on the new tags didn't start until April 1; thus he is assured of maximum service out of them, too.

To be sure, he got into a jam at the license bureau, but he got into a jam last Christmas and New Year's eves and intends to celebrate Memorial day, Independence day, Labor day and Thanksgiving right on the nose, along with the crowd. In other words, license tag day, being in the nature of a special occasion, should be celebrated like all other special occasions.

Besides, he can't think of a better time to install new tags than a Sunday. All in all, he is well satisfied with his lot and thinks his way of handling the situation year in and year out is equal to, if not better, than the way approved by those who are intolerant of persons who don't believe in crossing bridges till they reach them. Spare the sympathy.

MR. MOLOTOFF'S GLARING OMISSION

For whatever purpose he was talking, Premier Molotov left a glaring omission in his speech to the joint meeting of the Soviets on Friday. He said Finland was being used by "foreign imperialists" as a jumping-off place for a war against Russia, but did not name the imperialists.

This had the effect of making everything else he said meaningless. There is only one "foreign imperialist" in position to use Finland as a jumping-off place for anything—Germany. If Mr. Molotov didn't mean Germany, he was talking through his hat; if he did mean Germany, everything else he said was a waste of time. The most important fact in Europe since last August has been the apparent understanding between Berlin and Moscow. If anything happened to that understanding, or even the illusion of an understanding, things would be vastly different.

The fact remains that Russia's reason for invading Finland still is a mystery. If it wasn't to protect Leningrad from the only power able to launch an attack in the Baltic—Germany—it must have been winter maneuvers. When it's considered what was discovered about the army, at a cost of 48,795 dead and 158,893 wounded (Mr. Molotov's figures) there might be worse guesses.

THE STARS SAY:

For Tuesday, April 2.

Auspicious planetary influences prevail on this day, according to the most influential aspects. There is promise of advancement, preferment, fulfilled ambitions, together with personal prestige and popularity. Things are quite likely to move at a rapid pace, with probably excitement and in some connection, rather drastic and sudden action. In the domestic, social and group activities, as well as in the affectional life, a lively and gratifying tempo may be assured.

Those whose birthday it is may anticipate a year of extremely lively and swift-moving activities in both business and personal affiliations. In the former promotion, preferment, important objectives and the friendly cooperation of those in power and probably public authority may be expected.

A child born on this day, while probably somewhat temperamental or erratic, may be talented, artistic, ambitious, gracious and genial. It may win tokens of esteem and solid support from superiors.

Aluminum Treatment Used In Attacking Stomach Ills

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

From a reader: "I understand that aluminum is now being used to treat stomach ailments. What about the theory that it causes cancer?"

Yes, aluminum hydroxide has been used for four or five years in the treatment of ulcer of the stomach and acid dyspepsia. It has proved to be one of the most effective anti-acids that we have because it neutralizes excessive acid in the stomach which is present in ulcer, and it does not have any of the disagreeable features of other drugs. It does not cause alkalosis, as sodium bicarbonate sometimes does; it does not cause diarrhea, as magnesium oxide sometimes does, and it does not cause constipation, as bismuth sometimes does.

It controls spasms and pain of the stomach. I know a number of people with ulcer, who carry aluminum hydroxide jelly around with them and take it as patients used to take tablets of alkalis, such as sodium bicarbonate and magnesium oxide. Severe cases of ulcer are treated very satisfactorily with this medicine.

There is no danger of its causing cancer and there never was. The campaign that aluminum cooking utensils cause cancer is a piece of "scare the public" propaganda, thoroughly ignorant and vicious, in which there is not a word of truth.

Problems About Teeth

I have received a number of questions about crooked and irregular teeth:

"What causes crooked and irregular teeth?" Diseased tonsils and enlarged adenoids, too early extraction of temporary teeth, insufficient exercise and habits such as thumb sucking. In many cases the teeth grow in crooked without any known cause.

"How are crooked teeth straightened?" By an appliance which stimulates growth and guides teeth into proper position. The dental specialty which deals with this is called orthodontia.

"What is the best age for starting treatment?" Between the ages of seven and 10 years.

"Is the treatment painful?" Not to any degree.

"Do teeth have a tendency to decay if an appliance is worn?" There is no reason to worry about this if the teeth are kept clean and well brushed.

"How long does it take to straighten teeth?" No definite time limit can be set, as every case varies. In most cases the hardest part of the treatment is completed the first year.

Correction: In an article entitled, "Guests that Stay on for the Winter," published Jan. 19, 1940, in this column, sodium fluoride was erroneously described as harmless to man and animals.

EDITOR'S NOTE: Dr. Clendenning has seven pamphlets which can be obtained by readers. Each pamphlet sells for 10 cents. For any one pamphlet desired, send 10 cents in coin, and a self-addressed envelope stamped with a three-cent stamp, to Dr. Logan Clendenning, 235 E. 45th st., New York. The pamphlets are: "Three Weeks' Reducing Diet," "Indigestion and Constipation," "Reducing and Gaining," "Infant Feeding," "Instructions for the Treatment of Diabetes," "Feminine Hygiene" and "The Care of the Hair and Skin."

SAN RAFAEL, Calif.—Local bicyclists were considerably surprised when they learned they were subject to the same driving regulations as motorists. The discovery was made when a high school student was cited on a charge of reckless driving, on the grounds that he was riding on the left hand side of the street and made a left hand turn.

"Advertising Gives You Better Gas for Less Money"

"You see that gas pump? Well, every gallon of gas coming out of that pump is good; and what's more, you know it's good. That's largely because the company whose gas I sell advertises. That company has developed a reputation for selling a product of high quality. It has improved its product from time to time, and has told you about the improvements through advertising . . . Today, you know that you can go into any gas station where that company's sign appears and get the standard products—of the same high quality that it is in every other station selling that gasoline. Now, that's confidence, and you have it because the company's name and reputation for selling a sound product is known to you, and is constantly kept before you, by advertising . . . Nowadays, your gas costs you about a penny a mile, probably less than that. Do you think you could get good gasoline so cheap if there wasn't any advertising done by motor car and gasoline companies, by chambers of commerce, resorts, and other advertisers to make you want to go places and see things? I don't think so, Mister—that wouldn't make sense to me."

CHAPTER XXIV

A week crept by. Linda effaced herself as much as possible. She dodged Deaming, she dodged lonely. She spent a miserable, lonely week, got a bad cold and had to stay in bed. Linda Deaming sent flowers every day, and Hester came to see her.

She touched a yellow daffodill with white, sensitive fingers. Not a bad guy, Deaming. How much longer are you going to pretend you're not interested, Linda? "I'm not pretending," Linda said frankly. "I like him, but it's only the job I care about, really. I don't want him. His wife can have him."

"Oh—that's it?"

"What do you mean?"

"Scared of his wife?"

You couldn't be really angry at Hester. She was too frank, too direct. She thought things, and she said them, and she had no intention to hurt. Linda knew that, but she winced as she answered: "Scared? No, I'm not scared. But I'm not coming between any woman and her husband. I don't care what sort of no-account he is. I can't help Deaming sending me flowers, but I wish he wouldn't. I don't like it. I hate it! It started innocently enough and now I don't know what to do except quit, and how can I do that? I've got my family to think of."

"If you're thinking about dear Elsie Deaming," Hester said after a long pause, "you can forget her. The boss told me the story ages ago. The boss told me and made me swear not to tell, and I never did, but I will now. It seems that Deaming has a stenographer complex or something! Anyway the present Mrs. Deaming was once the stenographer. The Breen woman was the one he liked best, but the other one made him marry her. He played around with Breen afterwards—maybe he still does or maybe you've really replaced her in his affections. And the wife knows all about it and doesn't give a damn. In fact, there was quite a scandal four or five years ago when she wanted to get a divorce to marry somebody else, and he fought it. So now they're good friends—for the children's sake, I suppose, or maybe it's because he doesn't want to pay her the alimony he'd have to. But as far as coming between a woman and her husband is concerned—you have nothing to worry about."

"I still don't want him."

Hester rose to go. "Do as you like, Hon, but you could go worse. He's got money to spend, let him spend it! Besides he's swell looking, and good company. I could go for him myself."

"I'm still not interested," Linda said—and she meant it.

She'd come a long way since she left home that wintry morning four years ago. She'd worked hard, gained most of the things she wanted.

Little by little, so gradually that she hardly realized it, the old standards had slipped from her. She'd almost forgotten what her mother, her father, Grandma Poigne would have thought, and said of a girl who even stooped to consider the possibilities that she was considering now. She'd almost forgotten what she herself would have thought, and said, just a little while ago.

Now, it didn't seem to matter, particularly. There was no one left to care what she did. The only person she ever really wanted? ? ? ? Long ago, in the first hard days when she sat day by day with her sick mother, and worried that Glenn didn't care enough, she decided that if she couldn't marry for love, she'd marry for money. No half-way course for her.

And how silly that was! Marry for money.... How many girls got the chance? Men with money married girls with money.... or they married society girls, stage beauties, movie stars.

If she, who wasn't a movie star, or a debutante, wanted the luxuries that only rich men could give.... If she NEEDED money, not only for herself, but for the family....

After all....

But there was a something about it. Once you took the step you were sunk, you couldn't turn back.

I'm an idiot to hesitate, she thought angrily. There's no turning back for me, anyway. No reason to, no one to care. What am I making such a fuss about? Who am I to pretend I'm better than Hester?

Before Linda was completely over her cold, Claudine was home from the hospital, and Blanche was down with the flu.

"The least I can do," Linda told Deaming when he suggested driving her into the country some where, over the weekend, "is to go home and see what I can do about it."

But it was really because she wanted time. Time to think about it further. Time to make up her mind.

In the few days since she had come back to the office, he had spoken more than once of his wish to see her settled in more comfortable quarters. "That club is no place for you. It's all right for young girls and old ladies. But you're past all that, Linda. You owe yourself something better."

"I told you that I couldn't afford an apartment," she reminded him.

"And I told you that I'd see that you could afford it."

"You don't understand. I don't want presents. I want to be independent. When I can pay for an apartment, I'll have one. If you want to do something for me, help me get a raise."

He smiled. "That isn't so simple, Linda. I've done what I could for you. You know that. Now, as a friend, I'd like to do more—and you don't want me to. Don't you ever intend to let anyone help you? Do you intend to go on alone forever?"

"Maybe. Or maybe I'll marry some day."

"And what will that bring you?"

"Happiness, I hope."

He smiled again. "I wonder. It doesn't bring everyone happiness. I don't think that you and I are the making kind, Linda. I think you're like me—you value your freedom too much."

"Maybe that's why I want to pay my own way."

"All right. I like your independence. But we'll talk about it again, later. Time you grew up, my dear. No hard feelings?" she said.

"No, no hard feelings," she said. She, too, smiled. But she was glad

Pro-Nazi Cabinet for Rumania

Reconciliation between King Carol and the pro-Nazi Iron Guard in Rumania is diagnosed by some observers as a move which may bring a new government to Rumania in which Iron Guards or their sympathizers will participate. King Carol, shown left, followed by Crown Prince Michael, departing from the parliament building in Bucharest, once condemned the Iron Guard to extermination.

500 At Polo Club's Dance

Merrymakers Don Gingham and Overalls At Elks Club

Close to 500 persons, the majority of them dressed in clothes typical of rural life, crowded the Elks home Saturday night for the Salem Polo club's informal "barn" dance.

Dancing was from 9 to 1 to the music of Don Harvey and his orchestra. Entertainment during the dance orchestra's intermission was provided by "Washboard Ike and his Clubbustlers."

A prize walk, one of several features of the dance, was won by Mr. and Mrs. Robert Paxson. The prize for the "best dressed rube" was awarded to Paul Ormsby, while Robert Hertz won the greased pig chasing contest.

Decorations in the ballroom carried out the theme of the dance. Bales of hay and straw lined the walls, replacing chairs. Corners of the room were decorated with corn stalks, hay, straw, sacks of corn cobs and two old sleighs. A rail fence extended around the orchestra platform, while lines of multi-colored balloons hung from the ceiling. Burlap sacks furnished a backdrop for the entertainment platform.

Farm animals added a realistic touch to the barn-like setting. A large wooden horse and a crate of chickens stood on one side of the dance platform, sharing attention with a small man brought to the dance by one of the guests.

Out-of-town guests were present from Pittsburgh, Cleveland, Akron, Alliance, Youngstown, Lisbon, Columbiana, Wellsville and several other cities. Visiting polo players were entertained after the dance at the homes of J. Brooke Votaw and James Pidgeon, Jr., members of the Salem club.

YOUNG PUPILS LEARN RAPIDLY

Under 12 Years Best Time To Begin Musical Training

Planning for your child is a problem which merits your careful consideration. It is best to keep the boy or girl under 12 years of age well occupied, and music is the proven answer.

Any child can learn some musical instrument and some children become little artists in a short time. Teaching methods are greatly simplified today and they find fun and pleasure in their lessons. The fascination grows as they progress on their chosen instrument whether it be piano, clarinet, saxophone, trumpet, drums, piano accordion, guitar—Hawaiian or Spanish, violin or trombone.

Receive Many Benefits

Any child is bound to benefit from a musical training. A boy or girl need not show promise of a concert career to gain valuable benefits. Being able to play may alter his entire future because music develops self expression, self confidence and increases popularity. The Junior age is the ideal time to start children on some musical instrument as school work is not so difficult, giving them more time for practice, thus obtaining a good musical foundation before reaching the higher grades.

The Finley School of Music through its musical advancement plan, "Play as you Play" is an expensive way to start the child.

Three years of experience together with their qualified teaching staff will help the child to select the correct instrument, which is furnished free with a course of lessons taught privately for $1.25 per week.

The Finley Music Co. will welcome the opportunity to talk over your child's musical career.

"Vacuum-Packed" Light Secret of Sealed Beam

The principal problem confronting the engineers who developed the all-glass Sealed Beam headlamp, available on 1940 cars, was somewhat the same as the one confronting the canners of food. Both had to protect their product from spoilage. Food is protected by vacuum-packing under hermetical seal. General Electric lighting engineers "vacuum-packed" the light source and the reflector.

Hermetical sealing in cans from which the air has been exhausted prevents food deterioration. Hermetical sealing of the headlamps after replacing the air with inert gas prevents reflector deterioration.

Sealed Reflectors Solve Problem

Lighting engineers had long known that the rapid loss of light output from headlamps was primarily due to the effect of air, moisture, fumes and dirt on the reflectors. The problem was one of finding out how to prevent reflector tarnish. All headlamps prior to the adoption of Sealed Beam lamps by the automobile industry were made to open. The lens could be removed from the reflector—to permit the installation of a new bulb and the cleaning of the reflector. Every effort was made through the use of gaskets and tight fittings to exclude moisture, fumes and dirt, but no seal produced by such methods was completely successful. This was because it could not be truly hermetical, i.e., "impervious to air."

Old-Style Headlamp "Breathed"

The pressures caused by the difference in temperature inside and outside such a headlamp were always sufficient to create a certain amount of "breathing". When the temperature inside the lamp rose above the temperature outside—which always happened when it was lighted—air pressure was outward, because heated air expands. Then when the lamp cooled, outside pressure was greater and air was sucked in between headlamp parts carrying with it fumes and minute particles of dust, grit and grease which dirtied and tarnished the reflector. This constant "inhaling" and "exhaling" is called "breathing" and after only a few years' service, results in a substantial loss of light output.

Two-Thirds Loss In 3 Years

Lamps used on cars prior to 1940 models may lose two-thirds of their lighting efficiency in three years, if not regularly serviced. They lose up to one-third of their efficiency at the end of the first year of use. By the new General Electric process of fusing the lens to the reflector—made possible because both the lens and the reflector are moulded of heat-resisting glass—the reflecting surface is in effect "vacuum-packed". There can be no "breathing". No air can enter or leave the lamp, consequently it can lose none of its original efficiency through reflector tarnish.

Fusing a glass lens to a glass reflector and thus providing a truly hermetical seal, was the foundation step in the development of the Sealed Beam principle and one of the most important in the long history of automotive safety progress. G-E has applied this same principle in the development of auxiliary lamps designed to bring the lighting of old cars up to approximately 1940 standards.

SPRING'S RUSH FELT AT PARIS

But High Standards Exist Despite Added Business

PHILADELPHIA — Howard Everett, 29, was arrested for making counterfeit 50-cent pieces. He told police that he learned to make them while in the county jail. "I overheard some prisoners explaining how coins were made, so I paid close attention," Everett said. The prisoner also admitted passing the coins in dice games.

GANADO, Ariz.—More twins are born among Indians than white mothers, according to Dr. C. G. Salsbury, superintendent of the Sage Memorial hospital here. Salsbury said a study over a 10-year period showed there was one multiple birth in every 79 among Navajos while the incidence among white mothers was one in 80.

Persons who want anything, know The News is the Want Medium in this vicinity. So read it.

The present time is one of the rush periods for the Paris Cleaners, whose plant on the Benton rd is a veritable beehive of industry as folks get spring raiment ready and as the housewife chases winter's dust and dirt.

But it's important to remember that regardless of how busy this plant becomes, the quality of the work is not skimped. This is because the Paris has the most up-to-date equipment possible, manned by experienced workers. They know processes and methods and, consequently, cleaning is not an experiment with them. They guarantee results.

Paris customers know that Paris service is the same at any time during the year, regardless of whatever the particular season or occasion. Because the Paris has its own plant right here in Salem, there is no needless delay in the return of cleaned garments, and, naturally, in the event there may be an adjustment of any nature, it is possible to talk directly with the people who do the work.

The Paris, of course, stands back of each and every job it turns out.

Customers, of Paris will tell you it pays to have your work done at the local plant not only now but at any time.

SPRING BRINGS BRIGHT COLORS

Pontiac Makers find Auto Buyers Looking For Two-tone Jobs

... and in the fire of spring. Your winter garments of repentance fling.

Old Omar Khayyam put the idea into words originally and each year more and more motorists second the motion—of going out to meet the spring in a bright, new car, daringly bright, perhaps, but immensely soul-satisfying.

Long before February had ended its dreary course orders passing over the desk of D. U. Bathrick, Pontiac general sales manager, herald the coming of spring as surely as the first robin, the crack of baseball on bat in the corner lot, the housewives' opening blitzkrieg on winter's dust.

Two-tone Jobs Demanded

This year, Bathrick reports, Pontiac orders are stipulating an ever increasing number of two-tone paint jobs, of white sidewall tires, cabriolets with their convertible tops fashioned in bright-hued canvas. Leather upholstery in black or green or blue or red is called for.

"The pre-spring orders have a special gale," Bathrick commented. "And this, in my opinion, is a healthy sign—that the American motorist has enough confidence in himself and the future to buy a car that suits his new mood and maintains the high spirits that naturally accompany the coming of spring."

As spring approached the final assembly line at the Pontiac plant adds brilliancy to its year 'round efficiency as the bright colored cars move along. The plant's telegraph—which as if by magic arranges that the right body reaches the right chassis at the exact moment—begins to scrawl color directions the very names of which breathe spring.

"Glacier blue... Parma wine... Nottingham gray... St. Clair blue... Ridge green... Sherwood gray... Daytona beige..."

Black has long been the standard color demanded at Pontiac and other automobile plants but at Pontiac this year the lighter colors of, and particularly, combinations of colors are proving exceedingly popular. Sales Manager Bathrick says.

Typical Order

A typical color order for a Pontiac Torpedo Eight this spring is the following:

"Body—Renfrew Gray upper and Dark Glacier Blue lower; Glacier Blue fenders, chrome moulding. Glyndon Green wheels with white wheel stripes, blue and gray broadcloth upholstery."

New Robot Checks Ford Crankshafts

THIS NEW ROBOT machine, which "sees" and "hears" electrically, and has fingers more sensitive than those of a master craftsman, has just been put into service at the Rouge plant of the Ford Motor Company. It automatically insures perfection in every crankshaft that goes into a V-8 engine.

Utilizing electric "eyes," the "audio" mechanism of a radio set, and a collection of gages, relays, magnets and ink-pads all connected by a mile of wiring, it is the latest in a group of spectacular testing machines developed by the Ford Motor Company in the last ten years.

Sensitive to one ten-thousandth of an inch, one-thirtieth the thickness of a human hair, the machine is capable of checking the measurements of a Ford V-8 crankshaft at 50 points, and accepting or rejecting it—all within 12 seconds.

The principal advantage of the new "flaw detector" is that it permits every crankshaft, and not just an occasional sample, to be given the most searching kind of inspection.

Pontiac color trends are studied by a special group of color experts, a fact which may be surprising to persons who have thought that colors and combinations just happen. These color experts do not guess at what colors should be made available—they find out by regular field surveys.

Each state has its normal color vote recorded on a map which is kept up to date by further surveys. There are some interesting variations. For example: in the colder sections of the country, black and blue are favored. In the south light colors lead all year 'round. The color map also is a fairly good index of business conditions. When business activity is reduced people seem to prefer dark colors and swing to lighter shades with the return of good times.

Every month new colors are developed by the industry and carefully tested. This work, for the most part, is carried on at a testing station in Florida, where sample color panels are exposed for a long period to the hot sun and the salt air. The panels are checked at regular intervals for deterioration or "weathering." No finish can be adopted for automotive use until it passes these tests.

But the American motorist must be in a mood to choose new bright colors for the car he drives. He is in that mood this year, according to L. C. Dunlap of the Dunlap Motor Co., on E. Pershing st., local Pontiac dealer.

GOOD PLUMBING IS AN ESSENTIAL

Beauty, As Well As Utility, Is Seen In Latest Trend

Modernity is rapidly getting into the kitchen and bathroom of the home makers of today, even in far flung rural areas where heretofore folks possibly have not had access to everything they desired.

Time was when the parlor or the sitting room was really the choice section of the home, the prized room. It was the show place, designed largely for the eyes of visitors.

But that sort of thing is surely and certainly becoming something to be forgotten. People still have parlors and sitting rooms, certainly, but they occupy a different role in the general scheme.

The kitchen, particularly, the most important room in the home, at least, is being dressed up. The new kitchens are evidence of this trend. And, when remodeling, people are adding the latest conveniences.

The same thing is true of the bathroom. Beauty with utility is the new keynote.

Many new appliances, particularly in chrome styles, have helped to bring about changes in kitchen and bathroom. New designs in plumbing keep pace with the advancement.

If you have a building or a remodeling program on hand, no matter how large or small, it will pay you to consult with J. R. Stratton, master plumber, on this particular type of work. Mr. Stratton is equipped by experience and training to provide the latest in designs and, at the same time, the most expert workmanship possible.

KENT CAPTURES LITTLE CITY CHAMPIONSHIP

Collegians Successful In Third Bid For Honors In Kelley's Annual Tourney

Kent Triumphs Over Copley All-Stars, 44-41, In Finals of Little City Classic; Salem Team Wins Consolation Honors, 54-43

The third time was the charm for the Kent Collegians in J. M. Kelley's annual Little City basketball tournament. Competing in the Little City cage classic for the third straight year, the Collegians captured the tournament championship at the Memorial building last Saturday night. They had finished as runner-up in two previous tournaments.

A 44-41 victory over the Copley All-Stars in the final game gave the Kent team the championship for the first time. Consolation honors went to the Ohio State Employment Service of Salem.

Defeat Louisville
The O. S. E. S. passers defeated the Louisville Colts, 54 to 43, in the consolation game played as a preliminary to the finals.

Dean Mealy, former All-Ohio star at Muskingum college, who was selected as the most valuable player in the tournament, led the Kent team to the championship.

Mealy rang up 16 points in the final game and was credited by tournament followers as being the difference between victory and defeat for the Collegians.

The Kent cagers encountered their stiffest test in the final game, receiving all the opposition they could handle from the Copley All-Stars, a team of outstanding college players from the Akron area.

The finals, battling on even terms in the first quarter, scoring 10 points apiece, before Kent moved out in front to lead 28 to 17 at half-time. After trailing 34 to 27 at the close of the third period, Copley came from behind to tie the score once in the fourth quarter and continued to press the Collegians until the final horn.

The victory over Copley was the Kent team's fourth of the tournament. The Collegians' other victories were gained over the Ohio State Employment Service of Salem, 42 to 28, in the semi-finals; Holliday's Cove, W. Va., 49 to 35, in the quarter-finals and Harrisburg, 57 to 36, in the first round. Kent drew a bye through the second round, advancing straight to the quarter-finals after winning its first round game.

Copley's Victories
The Copley All-Stars, given a bye through the first round, advanced to the finals by defeating the Salem City News Agency, 38 to 24, in the second round; the New Brighton Boris Five, 42 to 35, in the quarter-finals and the Louisville Colts, 52 to 25, in the semi-finals.

The O. S. E. S. and Louisville teams, who hooked up in the consolation game after losing out in the semi-finals, battled on practically even terms for two periods before the O. S. E. S. passers assumed a commanding lead in the third quarter. Bob Jeffries and Clay Raynes paced the Salem team's scoring in the consolation game, Jeffries getting 16 points and Raynes 13.

Two Salem teams, the O. S. E. S. and Rudibaugh's Sohloans, were credited with playing one of the closest and most exciting games of the tournament. Meeting in the quarter-finals, the two local rivals staged a nip and tuck battle before the O. S. E. S. gained a 36-to-34 victory in an overtime period on Clay Raynes' field goal. The score was tied at 34-all at the close of the regulation playing time.

Seven games were played Saturday, as the tournament which opened Thursday, closing a three-day run.

In second round games—early Saturday, Rudibaugh's defeated the Hubbard Odd Fellows, 51 to 44; O. S. E. S. won over New Brighton Lemon's Market, 56 to 34; Cuyahoga Falls trimmed the Salem City News Agency, 64 to 42, and the New Brighton Boris Five topped Parma, 38 to 37.

Quarter final games saw the O. S. E. S. defeat Rudibaugh's, 36 to 34, in overtime; Copley win over New Brighton Boris Five, 42 to 35; Kent spank Holliday's Cove, 49 to 35.

INDIANS, GIANTS, PIRATES MOVING AT FAST STRIDE

Spring Performance Adds Support To Three Teams

BY JUDSON BAILEY
Whether there is any connection, the experts who have been revising their early guesses on the probable place at the finish of the Cleveland Indians, Pittsburgh Pirates and New York Giants are getting a lot of support from Grapefruit league performances.

The Indians, for instance, won all five of their games last week at about the time some folk were deciding they might give the Boston Red Sox a whole of a fight for second place in the American league this season. Cleveland has won 12 and lost four tilts in all competition this spring.

For awhile, everybody was so off-balance about Bob Feller that they figured he was good and the rest of the Tribe wasn't. Now the Indians are showing they also have other pitchers, good catching, a fine infield, a good outfield and a damper reserve strength.

Giants Improve
The Giants are another case in point. They finished fifth last year and came up with so many question marks this spring no one could fathom their fate. But in the last week they won five out of six games against such opposition as the New York Yankees, Cincinnati Reds, St. Louis Cards, Brooklyn Dodgers and Washington Senators.

Bill Terry, a smart manager capable of getting the most out of the material at hand, has his pitchers right at the peak. Burgess Whitehead is showing his former brilliance and is likely to solve the club's urgent third base problem, if illness does not recur.

Similarly, the Pirates took four out of five from the Philadelphia Athletics on their last week and there are signs that the Buccaners may be both bold and bad medicine, if Frank Frisch can line up any kind of pitching.

The St. Louis Browns, playing the best and only minor league opponents available in Texas, continued to pace the Grapefruit grind over the whole three-week route with a record of nine victories and two defeats.

WARREN TURNS PROFESSIONAL

Joins Penn State Association; Negotiates With Cleveland

WARREN, O., April 1.—The Warren Baseball club was allied with the Penn State association today for its first venture into strictly professional baseball.

Negotiations are understood in sports circles here to be under way with the Cleveland Indians to associate the Warren team with that American league club as a player "farm."

The Warren Chamber of Commerce has raised about $7,000 to equip the fairgrounds park with lights for night games and expand the grandstand seating capacity to between 3,000 and 4,000. Warren has had semi-pro teams previously.

The Penn State association admitted Warren as the sixth club of the Class D circuit, replacing the Greenburgs. The league adopted a 110-game schedule at Beaver Falls, Pa., yesterday, opening May 9 and closing Aug. 25.

Opening games will be: Warren at Beaver Falls, McKeesport at Johnstown and Washington at Butler.

Winners in other divisions: Doubles, P. Thomas and E. R. Jacks of Bryan, O. 1,375; singles, C. Rieger, Dayton, 715.

CLEVELAND, April 1.—A 1940-41 working agreement looking toward development of new hockey players has been signed by the Cleveland Barons of the International-American league and the Minneapolis Millers of the American association. Breezy Briefs Of Sport From Brietz To You

BY EDDIE BRIETZ

NEW YORK, April 1.—Joe Louis was paid off at the rate of $80 for each of the 224 seconds he played around with Johnny Paycheck.

The new owners of the Detroit Lions plan to team up with the city's schools to get a WPA grant for a new football stadium. Sen. Hone's name may adorn the string of sports palaces a N. Y. millionaire plans to build in coast-to-coast key cities. They've taken Billy Conn to a Pittsburgh hospital to probe for a germ that's holding up his career.

Baseball Market

What a big difference a little time can make. A year ago the Giants paid Washington 25 G's for Zeke Bonura. The other day "Old Fox" Clark Griffith's highest bid for the same Bonura was—three grand. Says the Dayton Journal: "Red Burman hung one on Don Caccarelli's elbow, who went down for the full count." Louis might try that next time he fights Godoy. Mike Jacobs' attorney is quoted as saying Mike has a 50-50 chance to beat Joe Gould's $100,000 suit.

Today's Guest Star

H. G. Salsinger, Detroit News: "Domie D. Maggie's follow through is almost a duplicate of brother Joe's. But someone remarks they pay off on what happens a fraction of a second before."

Personalities: The national magazines finally have waked up to the fact that Joe Engel, Chattanooga baseball showman, is good copy and one of 'em will go to town on him shortly. Remember Brother Elmer Dean who used to sell goobers in the Houston ball park? Well, he's now working as a share cropper on Brother Duffy's Texas farm. Charlie Ruffing of the Yanks is trying to develop a screw ball.

A Natural

Today is April Fool's day and if you ask us it would have been an ideal date for the Louis-Paycheck fight.

WOODS CAPTURES PISTOL LAURELS

Akron Man Wins Midwest And Ohio Titles In Columbus Shoot

COLUMBUS, April 1.—The Ohio and Midwest pistol marksmanship crowns rested today on the head of William S. Woods of Akron.

Woods, competing with 75 crack shots in the 15th annual championship event at Fort Hayes yesterday, turned in the best aggregate score of 918 for the 11-match program.

Ralph S. Marshall of Lima, last year's state champion and the nation's highest ranking civilian star, took second place with 911 and added four points to his own national record of 376 for the three-stage center fire event.

"Another national record was posted by E. T. O'Dell of Detroit, who shot 189 in the slow fire match, raising by four points the old mark held by C. E. Hall. O'Dell's aggregate score was 903, placing him third in the Midwest championship field.

The Goodyear Zeppelin team of Akron retained its Ohio league championship with a 1,257 score.

In the three-stage event by four-man teams, the Great Lakes Pistol club of Detroit placed first with 1,089.

C. E. Harman of Dayton topped the expert division and E. T. Buck of Richmond, Ind., paced the sharp-shoot class.

Canton Teams Lead

CLEVELAND, April 1.—Taking top honors in the five-man team and all-events divisions, Canton kepters today own half the titles in the Ohio Knights of Columbus bowling tournament. The Canton De Luxe Alleys scored 2,910 in the five-man, and Chuck Plister of Canton won the all-events with an even 1,900. Roxie Palumbo and Dom Cardina of Painesville won the doubles with 1,251, while Pat De Cesare of Cleveland annexed the singles title with 680.

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah—Jitterbug dancing is nothing but an outlet of physical energy, in the opinion of Miss Ethel Bowers, field secretary of the National Recreation association. She said youth needs vigorous dancing, running and racing games as well as mental games, observation games and educational games.

Walker Defends Title Tonight
COLUMBUS, April 1.—Jack "Bud" Walker, Columbus Negro, lays his state heavyweight championship "on the line" tonight, for Patsy Perroni, Canton Italian, to take if he can.

Walker has an impressive record—17 victories, 13 knockouts, and no defeats—but, on the basis of experience, the experts are inclined to make Perroni a slight favorite in the 10-round bout in the State fairgrounds coliseum.

While Walker has not flattered since he began his prize ring career not quite a year ago, Perroni has matched his skill with many of the "big timers", including the heavyweight king, Joe Louis.

Perroni, but the Italian stayed the 10-round limit. Perroni has victories over Tony Galento, Steve Dudas, Gus Dorazio, Edie Simms, Jack Trammell and Otis Thomas.

Walker normally scales at 192 pounds and Perroni at 183 Jack Dempsey, former world's heavyweight champion, will referee.

Finalists:
Joe Wagner, Cleveland, vs. young Harris Wills, Cincinnati (6).
Freddie Pope, Columbus, vs. Young Howdy, Kenton (6).
Bob Thomas, Lockland, vs. Charlie Roth, Louisville (6).
Joe Mueller, Cincinnati vs. Billy Ryan, Springfield (6).

METAL EXPERTS GIVE ARMY AID

Offer To Assist In Solving Technical Problems

CLEVELAND—The Federal government is retaining its own military progress by guarding army and navy technical problems too closely, according to E. E. Thum, editor of Metal Progress, official publication of the American Society of Metals.

Thum said that steel makers, aircraft designers and other industrial groups found free publication and discussion of their problems invaluable to the progress of the last decade.

He believes that, by making its military problems known to the public the government would obtain the aid of technicians and metallurgists who fail to make what might be invaluable contributions because of ignorance of the general situation.

Pointing out that he was not advocating publication of all government secrets, Thum commented that British magazines openly discuss technical problems of U-boat defense, speed and maneuverability of airplanes, fuel supply for motorized equipment and other similar matters.

He cited the evidence of Col. Glenn F. Jenks, chief of the technical staff of the U. S. Army Ordnance Department. Col. Jenks attributes the elimination of artillery "snowflakes"—a dangerous flaw in World war gun production which caused the rejection of thousands of weapons—entirely to research by five American concerns having long experience and outstanding success in gun manufacture. The study, over a 10-year period, resulted in the recording and systematizing of safe practices, and this record is now available to American firms contracting to make gun forgings for the government.

Thum pointed out that by revealing its technical problems the government can raise the standards for military materials and at the same time lower the cost of improving the defense forces.

Headland of R. D. 5 at 5:15 a. m. Saturday in Salem City hospital, died there at 4:10 p. m. Saturday.
